STRATEGY + CONTENT · 1 OF 4

Where we're going, and who we serve.

Goals

Next 20 days Close 1 project. Advance in the bank.

Month 6 ₹5L a month. A mix of big custom projects and medium projects, with several apps launched.

Market Maharashtra first. Pan-India once we have 10–20 projects. Europe and international outreach starts after 60 days.

Capacity 3 projects at a time solo. More projects means hiring freelancers at about ₹30k a month each.

Who we sell to

1 · Owner buried in manual orders
Supermarket, distributor, wholesaler

2 · Owner who runs on bookings
Clinic, coaching class, salon, tour operator

3 · Team running on Excel and WhatsApp
Real estate, loan and finance, insurance, multi-branch

4 · Founder with idea and money
Any app, with capital and groundwork done

5 · Institutions
Schools, colleges, coaching chains, hospitals

Signals, prices and the first two questions are on the Sales Sheet.

Who we don't

- Dreamers with no money. Most of the Blinkit-reel crowd: 90% under ₹3L, most under ₹1L.
- Franchise-seekers.
- Ride apps: licence fees ~₹3L plus deposits ~₹15L for one district.

2 OF 4

Decisions we made, and why.

Settled. Reopen only if real results say otherwise.

₹4L cap per project or phase
That's what our clients can realistically spend. Bigger scope is split into phases. The delivery multi-store plan (₹4.5L) is the one exception.

Lower prices now, for results
Real launched apps and demos matter more than margin in the first months.

No founding-client discount
A discount signals inexperience and makes ₹3–4L harder to trust.

No ready-made "launch kit"
It only has value if the buyer actively runs it. Most won't, and they'd blame us.

No agencies as partners
They'd see how it's done and build it themselves with AI.

No ride apps
Licence costs make them unviable for our clients.

Setup and app store launch included
Feels premium, costs us little. The client pays third-party fees directly.

Inbound only, for now

Content: what worked, and the rule.

What our reels showed

Blinkit-type business in your town Pulled dreamers and franchise-seekers	107K
Zomato-type app in your town Pulled people wanting to start a food app	12.1K
Wholesale ordering app Pulled real business owners	10.3K
Ola-Uber in your town Dreamers, and licence-heavy anyway	4.5K
Clinic automation Too new to judge	—

The rule

Famous app in the hook. Aimed at owners.

The famous name gets the reach. Talking to owners gets the right people. Avoid "start a business in your town"; that's what pulls dreamers.

How we make them

- AI-generated explainer videos with your Marathi voiceover. You write the script, record the voice, AI does the visuals.
- On the separate Outgrid Labs page (about 500 followers, up from 330 in 3–4 reels).
- At least 1 reel a day.
